PAID BIG TOLL TO END STRIKE

New York Builder Discloses "Hold-up" to Which Labor Leaders Subjected Him

LABOR HINTS PLOT

Attempt to Reduce Wages and Thus Lower Cost of Building Is Alleged by Some

New York, Oct. 21.—Ephraim B. Levy, real estate man and builder, testifying before the joint legislative committee investigating the alleged maintenance trust, declared that he had paid $25,000 to George Backus, another builder, to have a strike called off on one of the buildings which he was erecting.

Levy asserted that Backus said he wanted the money to pay "Mr. Brindell and a committee." Mr. Brindell is president of the Building Trades council of New York city.

Levy declared he was erecting a $2,000,000 building when his men suddenly walked out despite the fact he was employing union men and paying union wages. The witness said he had paid $25,000 to Backus and the men returned paid the remaining $10,000. Both checks were in evidence.

Protests Against Testimony

That testimony relative to the payment of $25,000 by Ephraim B. Levy, real estate owner and builder, to have a strike called off, will be submitted to the proper prosecuting authorities for immediate action, Senator Lockwood, chairman of the committee, announced at the close of the afternoon session.

While admitting that Brindle was a friend of his, Mr. Backus declared the labor leader had had no part in the $25,000 transaction and that his name had not been brought into the trial.

John O'Connor, counsel for Mr. Brindle, appeared before the committee and protested against the testimony given by Mr. Levy. He asked that the hearing be adjourned until Mr. Brindle could come here. His objection was over-ruled, but he was informed that the labor leader would be given an opportunity to appear before the committee early tomorrow to defend himself.

Mr. O'Connor later issued a statement declaring that "I do not think any of the testimony is dangerous enough to need a denial. If we should need to appear here, we will be here tomorrow."

Referring to the committee's proposition that Mr. O'Connor said, "It has developed into an attack by certain laborers on organized labor; this is a thing from every question asked. There is no other purpose in view except to discredit leaders of organized labor and by this disorganization to reduce wages paid labor and thus reduce the cost of building. The propaganda is deep seated and long lived."

Assemblyman McWhinney, a member of the committee, who was present when O'Connor gave his statement to newspapermen, challenged the attorney to produce proof that the committee was acting in conjunction with any "organized propaganda to discredit organized labor." O'Connor said that he could do so.

Promised Return of Men.
Mr. Backus testified the building under construction involved several million dollars and when the strike was called, although he was paying union wages and keeping union hours, he was anxious to get the men back to work. He said that when Mr. Backus informed him he might be able to arrange to get the men to working, he promised the money. Two checks, one for $15,000 and another for $10,000 drawn by Mr. Levy from the bank were offered in evidence.

Mr. Backus in taking the stand, declared he was associated with Mr. Levy in completing the building and was interested in ending the strike.

"And you will admit you got $25,000 in cash," asked Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee.

"I got it," Mr. Backus replied, "the first $15,000 in $1,000 bills and the other in smaller and diller money." When asked of his disposal of the $15,000, Mr. Backus testified he had given it to two strangers in the city, but later the witness admitted he had given it to two strangers in the city of Chatham hotel, in New York, in whom he had been negotiating for two days to have the strike called off.

Under cross examination, Backus declared he did not know the names of the strangers to whom he had paid the money and he did not care to know them. "They might have been a couple of burglars, or worse than that," he said.

When asked to describe the strangers, Mr. Backus said they looked like a couple of ex-workmen.

"What is an ex-workman?" he was asked.

"An ex-workman is a delegate," he said. "From what union were they walking delegates?"

"Well, I suppose the grafters' union. They didn't tell me."

TRAP CONVICT PAIR IN WOODLAND TRACT

Posses From Concord and Residents of Warner (New Hampshire) Hunt Sing Sing Fugitives

Warner, N. H., Oct. 21.—A posse of deputy sheriffs and police officers from Concord and residents of this town tonight stationed about a tract of woodland here in which two men believed to be George Stivers and Marcus Bassett, escaped Sing Sing prison convicts, were thought to be in hiding.

Many of the citizens were armed with shot guns and pitch forks. The men before entering the woods today abandoned a car which had been stolen in Concord. The theory that the men were Stivers and Bassett was strengthened by the fact that an automobile abandoned near Haverhill on Tuesday night, supposed by them, bore a Connecticut number plate which was stolen from the car of William McCabe of Derby, Conn., last Sunday by two men thought to be the escaped convicts, who had held up McCabe and a companion and robbed them of money and overcoats.

The two men were sighted this morning and several shots were fired at them. They disappeared farther into the woods without returning the fire and it is believed they were not hit.

Ossining, Oct. 21.—Chief of Police Annis of Warner, N. H., tonight sent this message to Sing Sing prison:

"We have these two men hemmed in, in a clump of woods here, and they will never get away alive."

Two hundred armed men, he added, were on guard near the woods. The fugitives had made two attempts to break through the cordon, but each time were driven back by rifle fire. Chief Annis said the capture of the two men is certain when daylight comes, but he felt that the convicts would not give up without a battle, as both are armed.

State troopers searching for the prisoners in Westchester county captured Walter McIntyre, alleged to have escaped from the East View penitentiary during the night.

LARKIN IS NOT ILL SAYS PRISON HEAD

Clinton Official Denies Representations in House of Commons Regarding British Labor Chief

London, Oct. 21.—Colonel Malone demanded in the house of commons today whether the government was aware that James Larkin, former head of the British Transport Workers' union, serving a prison term in New York for criminal anarchy, had developed tuberculosis in Danmore prison, owing to the nature of the work on which he was employed, and is in a critical condition. He asked whether the government had made representations to the United States with a view to releasing Larkin for treatment.

Cecil Harmsworth, under-secretary for foreign affairs, replied, he was aware that Larkin had been sentenced on the charge of advocating the overthrow of the United States government, but had no information regarding his condition. The matter was one, he added, on which Great Britain could make representations.

Danmore, Oct. 21.—James Larkin, former head of the British Transport Workers' union, and who is now serving a term in Clinton prison here for criminal anarchy, is not ill with tuberculosis and is not even confined to the hospital, it was stated by a prison official tonight in the absence of the warden and prison physician.

"Larkin is a more rugged specimen of manhood than the man you are talking with," said the prison official.

IGNORE "SUGAR TRAGEDY"

Financial Assistance Is Refused Cuban Interests by Fruit Products Association

Brockton, Oct. 21.—Marcus Blackmore, president of the National Producers and Fruit Products association, announced today that the association's executive committee, following a canvass vote of members, disapproved the proposal to assist financial the Cuban interests involved in the "sugar tragedy," which, it was declared, already has resulted in an advance in the price of sugar.

Present "abnormally" high and advancing prices the committee explained, may thereby be maintained at the expense of all for the benefit of a few in the face of an estimated large surplus in available supply.

NOTED CRIMINOLOGIST DIES

Elmira, Oct. 21.—Zebulon R. Brockway, for many years superintendent of the New York state reformatory, but who has been living in retirement here, died tonight, aged 55 years. Mr. Brockway was the author of several works upon criminology and had been a life long student, writer and lecturer upon the psychology of crime. He had served several terms as mayor of this city.

SAYS COX TRIES TO BLIND VOTER

Senator Harding Ridicules Opponent's Devotion to an Already Rejected Foreign Program

ARRAIGNS CRITICS

Nominee Issues Open Challenge to Them to Show Wherein He Has Been Inconsistent

Buffalo, Oct. 21.—Charging that the Democratic party candidate had attempted to "blind" the voters to domestic issues by devoting his campaign energies to an already rejected foreign program, Senator Harding told a crowd of several thousand here tonight that the first real duty of the nation in discharging its obligations to itself was to "put its own house in order."

In a word readjusting itself after the trials of war, said the Republican nominee, the United States could best attain its aid to distressed foreign nations by setting an example of steady democracy and equal opportunity. Torsely he reviewed the program for domestic rehabilitation presented by him in his many campaign speeches and declared the progressive thought of the country should turn to such a program rather than concern itself longer with the Versailles League covenant.

Making his second extended speech of the day, the candidate spoke here in the Broadway auditorium at a meeting which also was addressed by Judge Nathan L. Miller, the Republican nominee for governor. Earlier in the day at a meeting in Rochester the senator had stated again his position on the League and had challenged his Democratic critics to show wherein he had been inconsistent.

The auditorium speech was the last of the campaign on Senator Harding's speaking schedule outside his own state. Leaving late tonight his special train will reach Marion tomorrow morning.

In his references to the League here tonight the nominee said there was no difference between him and Governor Cox in our realization that the American people desire to enter into some kind of an association of nations which will prevent war and interweave all people with the bonds of peaceful co-operation.

"But there are two marked differences between us," he continued, "the first of these is to be found in the fact that my opponent is insisting upon the adoption of the unchanged Paris League of Nations; the Republican position is the exact opposite of that position. The American people as well as the senate of the United States long ago rejected the President's plan which my opponent is now trying to keep alive. Even if my opponent were elected he would be unable to put his program into effect and America would have to wait for many years, perhaps, before she could be united upon any policy."

"I consider it much more constructive to refrain from dictation of any inflexible policy. I consider it more constructive to show a willingness to consult America, to harmonize America, to consult the best opinion of America, the senate of the United States and the will of the people. I do not find any inspiration in carrying on this campaign so as to maintain a hopeless division of opinion."

"Do not be deceived by any emphasis which is placed upon our obligations to the outside world, unless that emphasis is given with the best of faith. We are not fulfilling our greatest duty, even to the outside world, but allowing gross mismanagement of our affairs to set a bad example to everybody. As a mere matter of setting a bad example to others, we should be blameworthy indeed, as a nation, if we allow the prodigality and waste and bad general management, which has brought us to the verge of disaster, to continue."

"I have been unwilling to accept the Democratic program because it is not only un-American and unwise, but because it is wholly impossible of fulfillment and simply tends to keep the American people in a ferment of useless controversy. It is my duty to turn my back upon the impossible and to set my face toward the future with full hope for a united and constructive plan in our world affairs. It is in this same attitude that nations of Europe are now found and it is in this attitude that the overwhelming majority of the American people have fixed their determination."

"To me it appears that it is the duty of America and Americans to set a good example to the world. Accordingly I have conscientiously suggested measures for the restoration of constitutional government of a republic to replace the false label of democracy which has masked an unbridled centralization of power in the executive."

"I have been preaching the gospel of less government in business and more business in government. I have been asking Americans to join in a policy of going forward constructively in the conservation and development of our national resources, in the upbuilding of our foreign trade and our merchant marine and proper measures for maintaining the health of this campaign."

GOVERNOR VIEWS PROHIBITION ACT

Tells Rochester Audiences He Is in Accord With Party Platform on Liquor Question

Rochester, Oct. 21.—Governor Alfred E. Smith, in an address in convention hall here tonight, declared himself in accord with the Democratic platform on the liquor question, which he said provided for an amendment to the so-called Volstead act that will make operative the acts passed by the state legislature and signed by the governor, defining non-intoxicating beverages and providing for the regulation of their sale.

"There can be no doubt about what the platform means," said Governor Smith, "and Judge Miller knows it thoroughly well and down deep in his heart that is his own attitude and that is what he believes in; but I can understand that he has received his ultimatum from William H. Anderson, and in order that he may get that support he has to take the position against his own judgment."

"If Thompson were not in the race what would the Judge's attitude be?" "In an early statement in the campaign, I said that I believed, and I still believe in the enforcement of every statute, but I repeat that I cannot countenance a state spy system that will put a heavy burden upon the taxpayers in this state for the payment of a great state machine and duplicate functions already performed."

"I find no fault with the judge catering to the dry element in order to get his votes, but don't be deceiving the great rank and file of the people of the state, who expect honest expressions from a candidate whose friends claim him to be a great lawyer."

"It is impossible for me to take a hypocritical attitude on this or any other subject."

CHARGE STUDENT WITH MURDER

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—A warrant charging him with the murder of Elmer C. Drewos, Dartmouth senior, was issued for William T. Brines, a University of Pennsylvania freshman, by the district attorney's office tonight. Brines, according to the police, is the owner of a yellow motor car, stained with blood and containing an automatic pistol and two empty bottles, found abandoned today about a mile from where Drewos' body was discovered last Sunday morning.

FREE COAL SHORTAGE

New York, Oct. 21.—Public utilities in New York which may be threatened with enforced shutdowns because of insufficient coal supplies, will be tied over the critical period by utilities having a greater supply on hand. This was asserted today by H. S. Sloan, chairman of the New York Fuel Distribution committee.

of our American agriculture and in the immediate solution of the problem which disturbs our industrial peace to the detriment of all of us.

"I have been preaching the gospel of an United America under an administration and a government which represents all the people, consults all the people, and so far as is possible, is administered by those who best express the interests of all the people. More than that, I want to emphasize particularly that we must preserve here in America the opportunity for every man, woman and child who prepares for it to take advantage of our American opportunity. It is an easy matter to talk in loose phrases about our obligations to suffering humanity or to those to whom justice is done abroad. It is much more difficult to build an America whose tenet is the demand for human resources begins at home."

"I seek understanding, and above all, I seek understanding of the necessities of conservation of our human resources. It is this understanding which has made me declare for new standards in America for health, new organizations in government, so that the problems of our human resources can be dealt with and with something more than words. I have taken a step in advance by suggesting that we create a department of public welfare under our government. I want protection for our women in industry, I want representation of women in government to protect the interests of the American woman and the American child. I want a proper administration of the full measure of care and recompense to the soldiers and sailors who suffered in the defense of their country's ideals."

Judge Miller, who preceded Senator Harding, said the standard bearer of the Democratic party in this state struck his colors before the canvass began, for although he had a conspicuous hand at San Francisco in the selection of the candidate and in the adoption of the platform, since the canvass started he seems to have been struck with a sort of apoplexy and he has been unable to pronounce the name of Cox.

"It is a confession of defeat; it is a surrender."

Judge Miller confined his address chiefly to national issues, saying they were ten-fold more important than this campaign.

MORE WOBBLING IS SEEN BY COX

Vigorously Lashes Speeches Made Wednesday by Taft, Harding and Johnson

BOOMS HIS POLICIES

"Everyone Who Is Against the League Is Against Me," the Governor Declares

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 21.—Governor Cox of Ohio, in addressing a large audience at the armory here tonight, pounced upon and lashed vigorously the League of Nations speeches yesterday of Senator Harding, former President Taft and Senator Johnson of California, declaring that they evinced further "wobbling" by Senator Harding upon the League issue. At the same time the Democratic presidential candidate further emphasized his League policies, declaring that "helpful" reservations should be a pre-requisite to ratification.

"Everyone who is against the League is against me," Governor Cox declared, insisting that Senator Harding, his Republican adversary, stands for "scrapping" the League. The governor also asserted that because of League differences between powerful Republican groups, the election of Senator Harding could not bring ratification.

"It is this League of Nations, or no League of Nations," was another doctrine laid down by the Democratic nominee. Governor Cox said that Judge Taft expressed confidence that Senator Harding would cause ratification and that Senator Johnson expressed equal assurance that Mr. Harding would reject the League.

Johnson or Taft Wrong

"Either Johnson or Taft is wrong," the governor declared, "and only Senator Harding can tell the American people which one is wrong. If Senator Harding has not given a private assurance to both men, then his declarations are so ambiguous that Taft interprets them one way and Johnson another. It is a duty of Senator Harding to advise the American people frankly who is right—Johnson or Taft. If he fails to do it he may be regarded as an imposter, deliberately seeking to deceive the American people."

"The League here and also at Wilmington, Delaware, where the governor made his only other address today, virtually was his sole topic. His Wilmington audience hissed the name of Senator Harding, when he referred to the Republican nominee's signature to the Round Robin and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts whom the governor denominated again as the "greatest conspirator" in his history. Large crowds at both Wilmington and Baltimore cheered the Democratic campaigner."

Referring to yesterday's speeches by Mr. Taft and Senator Johnson, Governor Cox told his audience tonight that today's papers carried a headline regarding the California senator's address, as follows:

"Insists Harding rejected league," that over Judge Taft's, the governor says Taft.

"Senator Johnson and Senator Borah are men of independent minds and independent action," said the governor. "They are against an association of nations and they are supporting Senator Harding because they know with his election the League of Nations or any league can never be ratified."

"It is amazing that men like Elihu Root and William Howard Taft and their associates among the eminent pro-league Republicans can longer justify the support of Senator Harding in the face of the facts, unless they will frankly say they put party obligations ahead of their duty to conscience."

Fourteen Different Positions

That Senator Harding with his speech of yesterday, now had taken 14 different league positions, was asserted by Governor Cox, cataloguing 12 he has named previously. The senator yesterday, his opponent declared, "now restates his position as that on the day on which he accepted the nomination on the platform which said the league was signally failed."

"The answer to that," the governor continued, "is that there are already 43 nations members of the league, and that it is an organization now functioning."

Referring to Senator Harding's offer of a "reward" to anyone demonstrating that he had taken variant league positions, Governor Cox said when he was present to show how he has the Cleveland Trust company's branch attempted to wiggle and wobble his way into the Presidency and to claim that reward not for himself, but for the people of America."

Senator Harding, the governor declared, ironically, was complaining because he was misunderstood.

Declaring that the senator's latest pronouncement seemed clear to Senator Johnson and the Californian in the money in sight, said to amount to that Mr. Harding stood against the league, the governor continued:

"This ought to define the issue in this campaign."

"Everyone who is against the League of Nations is against me. That is one thing about which there can be no doubt."

GRAVE CRISIS NEAR IN ENGLISH STRIKE

Threats of Railroad and Transport Workers to Force Negotiations With Miners Cause Concern

(By the Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 21.—The cabinet discussed tonight the grave situation arising out of the threat of the railroad and transport workers to force the government to negotiate with the miners. Whether any decision was reached was not disclosed, up to 10:30 o'clock.

Two grave questions are exercising the political and industrial world. The first is what extent the labor leaders are losing control of the workers; second whether a political crisis and an appeal to the country will develop out of the miners' dispute.

It is stated that James Henry Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railway Men, has exerted the greatest efforts to get the action taken by the railway men postponed for a few days, but that his influence was overborne.

Premier Lloyd George was in informal conversation with some of the labor leaders today, but little hope seems to be entertained that the government will recede from its position, insisting upon an increased output or submission of the dispute to an independent tribunal as a condition for an increase in wages.

Even had the government been inclined to recede from this position, it is felt it could hardly do so now in the face of the railway men's threat. Undoubtedly the solidarity of the workers as shown by the action of the railway and transport workers comes somewhat as a surprise to the public because the miners' strike is unpopular with almost the entire community. The seeming inconsistency is explained by some of the labor leaders as due to the universal belief among the workers that the government under pressure of big business interests has decided that a halt must be called to continual increases in wages.

Robert Smillie, the miners' leader, speaking in Glasgow tonight, accused the government of desiring to remove the hindrances to cheaper and greater production which were found in the present powers of the trade unions. He promised that if increased wages were granted the miners would co-operate with townsmen and increase the output by 20,000,000 tons in four or five months.

The effect of the coal strike is appreciably felt by the various unions affiliated with the National Transport Workers' federation. From 50,000 to 100,000 transport workers are idle, and hundreds of thousands of other workers in other callings have been obliged to remain idle according to Secretary Robert Williams. At mid-day thousands connected with the shipping industry were idle.

ARMOURS INDICTED FOR PROFITTEERING

Violation of Lever Act Is Alleged in 127 Counts Involving Chicago Packers

New York, Oct. 21.—A federal indictment containing 127 counts was returned here today against Armour & Company, Chicago packers, and various officers of the concern, charging profiteering in violation of the Lever act.

Individuals indicted were J. Ogden Armour, president of the company; S. Edson White, vice president; Herbert H. Phillips, manager of the dressed beef department in Chicago; Arthur H. VanPelt, New York district superintendent; Charles N. Meyer, and Will H. Metache.

The indictment, returned after an extended inquiry conducted by representatives of the attorney general's office, charged the defendant with selling different lots of New Zealand tinned costing $15.46 per hundred pounds for $24 to $26. These alleged prices were held to be unreasonable.

KILL BANK ROBBER AND CAPTURE FOUR

Cleveland Bank Clerk, Too, Probably Is Fatally Wounded as Result of Battle

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—One bandit was killed, two others seriously wounded and William Petre, bank clerk, was probably fatally wounded late today, when 19 automobile bandits held up the Cleveland Trust company's branch bank at Bedford, 10 miles from here. Four of the bandits were captured and that reward not for myself, but for the people of America."

The dead bandit was the driver of the automobile.

The robbers entered the bank with drawn revolvers and ordered the employees to hold up their hands, took all the money in sight, said to amount to $36,650, and made a dash for the door. A bank clerk sounded an alarm and a fusillade of shots between the robbers, bank employees and citizens followed.

The robbers' automobile stalled and they abandoned the car and stolen money, escaping in a second car.

ROOT ANSWERS GOVERNOR COX

Declares in Telegram to Nominee That He (Root) Cannot Be Mistaken About Cox's Position

PLEDGED TO WILSON

Root Refers to Governor's Statement That He (Cox) and President Were in Complete Accord

New York, Oct. 21.—Elihu Root tonight made public the following telegram to Governor Cox, replying to his request to "correct" an alleged "false" statement in Mr. Root's New York address Tuesday regarding the governor's position upon the League of Nations.

"I have today received your telegram dated yesterday. I would not willingly do you an injustice, and I do not think I have. You began your campaign by an interview with the President and with an authoritative statement that you and he were in complete accord upon the League of Nations. I cannot be mistaken about his position. Throughout the long struggle in the senate he steadfastly refused to give his consent to any reservation which substantially changed the covenant as he brought it back. He certainly has not changed. His very recent utterances show that if you have changed from that complete accord with him, I have not heard of it. Such a change is not indicated by the vague and general expression of your telegram saying that you will accept 'reservations' that will clarify, that will be helpful, that will reassure the American people that you would sit down with members of the senate, that you would confer with Mr. Wilson, Mr. Taft and myself and all others who have a sincere purpose and so forth, because you are the one who would determine what was helpful, what we would assure the American people, what advice you would follow, and you are solemnly, publicly pledged to an agreement with Mr. Wilson concerning the covenant he brought back from Europe."

"There is one statement of your telegram that does give a definite idea of where you stand upon what Mr. Wilson declares to be the heart of the league—the general alliance of Article X by which the United States would undertake to guarantee against external aggression the territory and independence of every member of the league and to make the guarantee good by war if necessary. You say in your telegram that you will accept reservations that will clearly state to our associates in the league that congress and congress alone has the right to declare war and that our constitution sets up limits in legislation of treaty making beyond which we cannot go."

"That it seems, is what you are willing to do about Article X. Well, it is absolutely nothing. Everybody knows already that only congress has a right to declare war, and that there are limits to legislation and treaty making, power. All governments of all civilized nations know it. You accomplish nothing by telling them of it again. The trouble about giving the guarantees provided in Article X is that the making of a treaty containing it is a solemn assurance to all the nations that it is within the treaty making power and that the promise to make war binds congress as fully as it binds all the members of our government to maintain the private faith of the United States. In all governments the power to declare war rests somewhere, and an agreement to make war is an agreement that that power shall be so exercised by the officers in whom it rests. A refusal by congress to pass the necessary resolution would simply be a breach of treaty."

BONUS FOR EX-SOLDIERS

New York State Residents Will Decide Much-Deferred Question at Polls on Election Day

Albany, Oct. 21.—A proposal for a bond issue not exceeding $15,000,000 for bonuses to New York state residents who served in the World war and a constitutional amendment to provide for the issuance of serial bonds in connection with the state debt will be submitted to the electors of the state for their approval on November 2.

The referendum for the serial bond issue was sponsored in the 1919 legislature by Miss Margaret L. Smith, a Republican member of assembly, a statute provides that the proposal is approved of the voters, the comptroller shall post the bonds, bearing five per cent interest payable in 25 annual installments. The proceeds of the state would then be distributed by a special commission to be created for that purpose by the legislature. A disability fund would be created for the amelioration of the condition of residents of this state who are suffering from disability incurred while in the military or naval service of the United States at any time between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918.

The serial bond amendment to the constitution is the same as one proposed by the constitutional convention in 1915.

GEN. PERSHING SALUTES SEN. HARDING

When Senator Harding returned from St. Paul where he addressed an audience at the Minnesota State Fair he was greeted by General Pershing, who accompanied the Republican nominee back to Marion.

6 REASONS

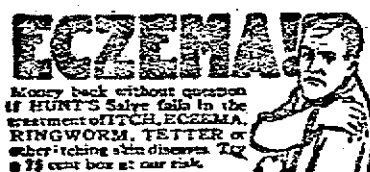

Why We Recommend
DONNACONA PAPER CO.
1st Mortgage 6% Bonds
BECAUSE

1. Ten years ago Canada supplied less than 1% of the newspaper requirements of the United States while today she supplies over one-third of the total consumption of newspaper in our country.
2. Exports have increased during this period from about $5,500,000 to $104,500,000.
3. In 1901 there was 25 mills with a total capital invested of $11,000,000. In 1918 there were 94 mills with invested capital totalling $251,000,000.
4. The demand for paper has caused an acute shortage of this commodity, sending the price from $50 to $120 per ton.
5. The scarcity of newspaper is causing innumerable suspension of newspapers in United States and Canada, and while there is no larger of overproduction, THE DONNACONA PAPER COMPANY has raw material for forty years, or twenty-two years beyond the maturity of these bonds.
6. The security back of these bonds is nearly three times the amount of this mortgage, and there is a liberal sinking fund to retire these bonds. Price to yield 7%.

State Boxing Commission Takes First Disciplinary Action Under Walker Law.

New York, Oct. 21. — The New York State Boxing Commission, in its first disciplinary action against boxers licensed under the Walker law, today suspended for an indefinite period Tilly "Kid" Herman and "Knock-out" Lew Williams. The commission's action resulted from the showing of the fighters in bouts before the Commonwealth Sporting club here last night, Herman being charged with foul fighting and Williams with quitting in his match with Panama Joe Gans. The commission also suspended Johnnie Reiser and Freddie Reese for 30 days. Reiser was charged with using indecent language in a bout with Reese at Madison Square Garden October 15, and Reese with failing to make the agreed weight of 128 pounds for the same fight.

Wanderers Again in Field with Fast Squad—High School Organizing.

Now that Babe Ruth and his co-stars have been out of Ontario a whole week, local fans are beginning to talk basketball. Ontario's ever popular winter sport. There has been some delay in organizing teams at the High school, but little time is being wasted now and O. H. S. expects to put a snappy little team in the field.

Thurston Crouse, who managed the fast Wanderers aggregation last season, is already active getting the team together again, and he promises an even faster outfit than the one that defeated the Binghamton Marvells, a state league team, last winter. Perry, Tamsett, Dewey, Thomas and Disbrow, who were principals in the 1919 squad, will be back on the floor again this fall, and Manager Crouse expects to put up some good games.

It will be recalled that the Wanderers won all but two of their games last year, and they are working to hang up an even better record this year, although this is doubtful, as they expect to go up against some much stronger teams. Their game with the Marvells at the end of last year was the fastest game seen on the local court in many moons, and Manager Crouse plans to put on more exhibitions of this type during 1920-21.

STOCKS AGAIN DULL BUT SOMEWHAT FIRM

Effects of British Industrial Crisis Is Manifest in Setback of Foreign Exchange

New York, Oct. 21.—Stocks were dull but steady at the opening of today's trading, becoming more active and firmer toward the mid-session but easing very generally later, when advices from London foreshadowed an early extension of the British industrial crisis.

The latter situation was responsible for another setback in foreign exchange, the rate in London falling almost four cents from its recent rally, with irregular reversals in remittances to most other European centers excepting Greece.

The bulk of the trading in such favorites as oils, steels, equipments and affiliated specialties, was traceable to pools, while intermittent buying of secondary rails was accompanied by rumors of prospective mergers or combinations, all lacking confirmation in authoritative quarters.

Investment transactions were irregular or heavy at best, as were also several of the motors and their subsidiaries, textiles, leather, chemicals and papers. Reaction in the last hour ranged from one to almost five points, with moderate rallies just before the close.

In the money market there were fewer offerings of two to three months paper, while call money held at seven per cent during the day.

Tractions were the strongest features of the bond market. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

WITH THE "Y" BOWLERS.

State Tournament Team and Local Banquet Features of the Season.

Plans for making the bowling season at the local Y. M. C. A. "the best ever" were discussed at a well-attended meeting of the bowlers, held last evening, with a score and more present. At the business meeting, Miles Graves was chosen president and Burton Hubbert secretary and treasurer. Graves was given authority to appoint a committee to act with him in the selection of a team to represent the Oneonta "Y" at the state bowling tournament, which occurs in mid-winter. This is the first time in many years, if not the first, that Oneonta has been represented in the state tournament, and the best possible team will be selected here.

Another event discussed last night was the banquet of the local "Y" bowlers, which will take place at the height of the season. Each man who enters the local tournament this season will pay $1. this to pay for his entrance fee and for a ticket to the banquet.

The bowlers voted to call another meeting Monday night, November 1, when final organization will be completed and further plans formulated. After last night's meeting, those present divided into two "scrub" teams, and Bolton's squad defeated Quackenbush's by a close margin.

HUNT FOR EEL DATA

Danish Scientist Hopes to Gather Interesting Information.

Seeks for Spawning Eel, Something That Has Never Yet Been Seen—Quick Death After Maturity.

Cardiff, Wales. — Dr. Johannes Schmidt, a Danish scientist, is searching the Atlantic between the Azores and the West Indies for spawning fresh water eels, which the eye of man has never seen. This announcement was made by Dr. W. A. Herdman, professor of oceanography at Liverpool university, in his presidential address before the annual conference of the British association.

"All the eels of the streams and lakes of northwestern Europe," Doctor Herdman said, "live and feed and grow under our eyes without reproducing their kind—no spawning eel has ever been seen. After living for years in immaturity, at last near the end of their lives the large male and female yellow eels undergo a change in appearance and in nature. They acquire a silvery color and their eyes enlarge, and in this bridal attire they commence the long journey which ends in maturity, reproduction and death."

They migrate in the autumn to the coast, from the lagoon seas to the open ocean and still westward and south to the mid-Atlantic and we know not how much farther, for the exact locality and manner of spawning have still to be discovered.

"The youngest known stages of the Leptocephalus, the larval stage of eels, have been found by Doctor Schmidt to the west of the Azores, where the water is over 2,000 fathoms in depth. These were about one-third of an inch in length and were probably not long hatched."

"Now Doctor Schmidt is traversing the Atlantic in the hope of finding the missing link in the chain, the actual spawning fresh water eel, in the intermediate waters somewhere above the abysses of the open ocean."

Cradle Boards.

There are nine different kinds of cradle boards used by the various tribes of North American Indians. The Eskimos did not use such a board. The baby was wrapped in the hood of the mother's fur coat. In the most southern tribes the baby was merely bound to the mother's back by a strip of cloth long enough to hold it.

Foolish, Indeed.

When Billy returned from inspecting the new twins next door he looked admiringly at his birthday cake that auntie was frosting, and remarked: "Wasn't them kids foolish to be in such a hurry to go and get borned the same day! Now they kin only have one birthday, an' they might have had two."

With Reservations.

Our pastor remarked in his searching way yesterday that he often fears some members of his flock, if they prayed exactly as they feel, would phrase it this way: Lead us not into temptation, unless the chance is exceptionally good and no one's around. —Ohio State Journal.

Local Woman Tells How She Got Rid of Painful Ailments — Limits Were Set — Are Now Limber — Headaches Left Her — Prickly Sensation Disappears From Hands — Goldline Great

Rheumatism. Just the time for this dreaded disease to make its regular fall appearance with so many sufferers. Why allow it to get a grip on you? At the very first sign get busy. As Mrs. A. B. Floyd of 223 Oak street, Binghamton, N. Y., did, she took the advice of a friend, got a bottle of Goldline and today is a thankful woman.

It was well worth trying anyway, I thought. My ailments were very severe, dizzy spells, overcame me regularly and sleep without interruption was out of the question as I would have to get up three and four times during the night. My limbs were very stiff and my nerves were fast and out. Now I no longer have headaches, my nerves are feeling fine, and my arms and legs are as limber as when I was a child. I sleep, did you say? Well, I should say I do. Now it's worth while to try Goldline. F. Murray is another satisfied user of Goldline. Goldline is sold in Oneonta by Shade's Drug store.

OTSEGO COUNTY NEWS

MILFORD MEETING AND SUPPER

Manager Barlow to Speak at Methodist Church Tuesday Evening.

Yonkers, Oct. 21.—The Otsego County Improvement association has arranged a series of meetings for next week and will hold one in this village on Tuesday evening. The meetings here will commence with a supper served by the Ladies' Aid society at the Methodist church parlors at 6 o'clock, after which the association meeting will be held in the church auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend the supper and remain for the meeting.

The program will consist of three parts: an address, a three reel moving picture show, and the election of an association director. There will be no solicitation for membership. In order that the association be made as democratic as possible, provision was made in the constitution that directors be not succeed themselves. At this meeting, a director will be elected to succeed William G. Wright.

Manager Floyd S. Barlow will take a few minutes to tell of the present state of the association projects. It is believed that every citizen owes his community and county some thought and action. The association provides a way for concerted action, which is being productive of results which are beneficial to everyone.

Conservation and reforestation constitute an important phase of the work, consequently a representative of the Conservation commission has been secured to show some high class pictures on conservation, including the protection and reforestation. These pictures are highly interesting and instructive.

Everyone is invited. A special invitation is extended to the children of the High school to be present.

Chicken Pie Supper Friday.

Everyone is urged to bear in mind the chicken pie supper to be served tomorrow (Friday) evening, commencing at 6 o'clock at the new I. O. O. F. hall on West Main street. The supper is served under the auspices of the High school.

Only One Thing Now Lacking — Money

"I have devoted nine years for stomach and liver trouble and spent thousands of dollars, but instead of becoming cured of these ailments, my bleeding and pains and stracks became worse. I was persuaded a year ago to take May's Wonderful Remedy and have never suffered since. The first dose I took I had the most back I spent for other medicine. It is a simple, harmless preparation that cures the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will continue or money refunded. Write Strong Drug company."

Returns to Ohio.

Herbert Sweet, who spends his summers in this village, returned today to his home at Waynesburg, Ohio. He was accompanied by H. H. Barnard, who will spend a couple of weeks in the west before returning home.

Voters Registered.

This year, there are 559 voters registered in District No. 1, town of MILFORD. This is the largest number ever registered in this district.

Attending Presbyterian Synod.

William C. Dunham of the MILFORD Presbyterian church was in Binghamton the first of the week to attend the annual meeting of the Presbyterian state synod.

Schenectady Glove Making.

Good Progress Being Made With Work — Miss Campbell New Manager.

Schenectady, Oct. 21.—Satisfactory shipments of gloves are now being made from the branch of Fowkes Brothers' glove factory here to the home office. Several ladies have already become sufficiently proficient in the work to take the machines to their own homes, and a new shipment of machines has come for the use of those who wish to learn the work.

At the beginning of November, Mrs. Flora Campbell will take the place of Miss Elizabeth Caser as manager. Miss Casey will return to Gloversville, but will make frequent trips here to supervise the work.

Mrs. Theyson Honored.

Mrs. Lillian Y. Theyson and Mrs. Lilla K. Lewis returned Tuesday evening from New York, where they attended the sessions of the grand chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Theyson is receiving congratulations of many friends in her appointment as district deputy grand matron for the fourteenth district.

A New Arrival.

An eight-pound son, who will be called George Lyman, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes Jr. Wednesday morning.

Past Matrons Meet Friday.

A meeting of the Past Matrons' association of the Fourteenth O. E. S. district will be held at Masonic hall tomorrow (Friday). A large number of members have signified their intention of being present and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

Rebeka to Install.

A regular meeting of Wiontha Rebekah lodge will be held at Odd Fellows hall Friday evening. The new elect officers will be installed by the district deputy president, Mrs. Ada Chamberlain, of Sidney.

Notes.

Mrs. Robert L. Newby of Canton is visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary L. Baldwin.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Clark of Binghamton have been spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Edith Clark.

SOCIAL AT MIDDLEFIELD.

Hallowe'en Event Next Friday Night — Masking Bee Held.

Middlefield, Oct. 21.—The Christian Endeavor society of the Baptist church will hold a Hallowe'en social in the church parlors Friday evening, Oct. 29. Supper will be served in cafeteria style. All will be welcome.

Husking Bee Party.

On Wednesday evening about 60 friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder gathered at their home for an old-time husking bee. After the corn was husked, the party was treated to sandwiches, coffee, pumpkin pie and doughnuts. All reported a very enjoyable evening and found Mr. and Mrs. Snyder royal entertainers.

Heard About Town.

Mrs. Noah Hubbell is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Bertrand Roberts, at Davenport.—Miss Maggie Denton is ill at the home of Charles Hearn. Mrs. Cheney of Fly Creek is caring for her.—Mr. and Mrs. Fort of Cobleskill are visiting their niece, Mrs.

FLORD WITSE.

Mrs. Carrie Hood of Pennsylvania is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. VanHuzon.—Miss Carrie VanHuzon, who has been at the Tuller at Richfield Springs for the summer, returned home last Saturday.—Mrs. Verie Clark of Middlefield Center is visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Andrus.

Home Bureau Meeting.

The Home bureau will hold an all-day meeting at their club rooms Wednesday, Oct. 27. Each member please bring patterns and material for aprons, also sandwiches and dishes for one and any other dish for the luncheon.

Services in M. E. Church.

On Sunday, Oct. 24, services at the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Epworth league will be led by Mrs. C. J. North at 6:30. All are invited.

At Otsego Methodist Church.

Otsego, Oct. 21.—A New England Harvest supper will be served in the Methodist church parlors on Friday evening of this week, beginning at 6 o'clock. Price, 35 cents. All are invited.

The annual Harvest Home service.

will occur at the church on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. It is expected there will be a large and attractive display of vegetables and fruits. These will be sent to the Children's home at Binghamton. In the evening, at 7:30 o'clock, Dr. James Hensley will preach. Everyone is cordially invited.

George Summerson.

A silver offering will be taken. This is a story with music and all should avail themselves of the opportunity of listening to this entertainment. John Craft left Monday on a hunting trip to the North Woods.

NORTH FRANKLIN.

North Franklin, Oct. 21.—The Ladies' Aid society of the Aldrich Baptist church served a chicken dinner of C. A. Munson.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Driggs and son, of East Orange, N. J., were week-end guests at the residence of Miller brothers. Martin and son, of Troy, spent the week-end at the home of Frank Kouse.

The chicken pie supper of the grange has been postponed until October 29.—Edward Mitchell and daughter, Lillian, of Hobart, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Judd.—Frank Pomeroy spent the first of the week in Albany.—Mrs. A. Hill and Mrs. Thorpe of New York city are visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Warren Anderson.—W. Scrambling has moved from the Rose farm to Cannonsville.—The six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Epps suffered a broken leg Saturday in a rather unusual manner. He was playing on a wagon box that was lying on its side against the barn, when the box tipped over and fell on his leg, causing a slanting fracture above the knee. Dr. Winans of Franklin reduced the fracture and the lad is getting along as well as can be expected.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kouse, Mrs. Irene Elderskin and daughter, Orvetta, and Mrs. S. E. Slawson attended the Oneonta grange meeting Monday evening.

Mackinaw.

The heavy all-wool kind that we feature are selling for less than last year, when $25 to $30 was not an uncommon price. New lines selling at $12, $15 and $17, and a few extra heavy at $20 and $25. Manufacturers have no surplus of Mackinaw cloth. Spencer's Busy Clothes Shop, Oneonta.

JUNIOR PROJECT WORK.

Otsego is one of the 44 counties in New York state in which it is realized that the way to make better farmers and better homemakers is to start with the boys and girls.

Figures just given out by the state leader of Junior Extension work at Ithaca show that 12,600 boys and girls in 44 counties are now engaged in some of the projects, by means of which they learn the fundamentals of scientific handling of livestock, growing of crops, garment making, cooking, or similar work.

Not only are 44 counties carrying on this work with boys and girls, but 22 of these counties, of which this county is one, have regularly organized county boards of junior extension, and 17 of these, among which this county is also included, have leaders who are devoting their full time to the work. In other counties, the projects have been carried on by some person who has taken on himself the supervision of the work because he realized its great importance.

The Junior Project plan, it would seem, might run its big brother, the Farm Bureau, a race for popularity. Ten counties made Junior Project exhibits at the State fair this year and ten Farm Bureaus were likewise represented by exhibits.

Other counties in addition to Otsego in this part of the state which not only carry on the work regularly, but also have county leaders, are Delaware, Chenango, Montgomery and Schoharie. The quality of the work done in Otsego is fully demonstrated by the result of the exhibit at the State fair, when our county carried off the chief honors.

CHEAPER MEAT ANIMALS.

Meat animals have been selling for farmers for a whole year ending with September, 1920, at prices that were lower than they were in the preceding year by 14 per cent. The fall in prices, compared with the former years, began in September, 1919. These statements are based on prices ascertained by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture.

Prices of these animals were gradually increasing to the calendar year 1914, but they fell 8 per cent in 1915, followed by a gain of 17 per cent in 1916, of 49 per cent in 1917, when the peak of gain was reached, of 17 per cent in 1918, and of less than 1 per cent in 1919. Now, for the last four months of 1919 and for 1920 to September, there has been a recession of price movement with a drop of 14 per cent.

NEW RULING ON CIDER.

Head of Family Can Put Away 200 Gallons for Own Use.

Under a special ruling just announced by the internal revenue department, the head of any family can make as high as 200 gallons of "non-intoxicating" cider or fruit juices (wine) containing one-half of one per cent, or more, of alcohol by volume yearly, when it is exclusively for use within the maker's home. The department rules that the cider or fruit juices, if fermented to the point where the stuff contains in excess of one-half of one per cent alcohol, is not even subject to tax.

Likewise, the ruling says, fruit juices, if they are within the 200-gallon limit for family use, are free from tax payment. However, if more than 200 gallons are made, the maker must give bond and pay tax. And if such excess amount is intoxicating, the department holds, double the ordinary tax will be collected.

The order, while a bit late to permit lovers of wine to take advantage of the 1920 grape crop, comes just in time to give an impetus to the cider industry. Another internal revenue ruling permits the owner of apples to take them to a custom mill to be ground, and so the head of a family who likes applejack is spared even the trouble of squeezing out his own apples, apparently.

DEER DIG POTATOES IN SULLIVAN.

They are having a queer experience down on the Chenango river preserve in Lumberland with the deer digging up their potato fields. The deer go along the rows and dig out the potato hills with their sharp hoofs, eating them up as clean as a whistle. One evening a flock of 15 white tails were seen busily engaged in digging the spuds and eating them as fast as they came out of the hills. They have completely destroyed quite a patch of tubers that was growing on the place. They have never been known to do this before and their action is quite a puzzle. No way has yet been found for preventing their depredations and it is believed they will dig the patch clean before they quit. [Monticello Republican.]

GRANTED ABSOLUTE DIVORCE.

Among the decrees recently entered in the county clerk's office at Cooperstown was the one of Grace A. Griffin, formerly Grace Chase of this city, securing an absolute divorce from Karl L. Griffin, who was a former resident of Schoharie.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

The New Excuse.

There's always something to fall back on in an emergency and we used to put off everything we ought to have done right away until the war was over and now we defer it until we can consult the best minds of the country. — [Ohio State Journal.]

First Guess Is Right.

Hides have dropped in price .50 per cent, to pre-war levels, in the last six months, the Middle States Shoe Wholesalers' association were informed Tuesday by a commercial research expert. You have guessed it: Prices on shoes will not come down for some time, in the opinion of the wholesalers. — [Springfield Republican.]

The Only Flag.

Mayor Moore of Philadelphia will permit only one flag to float over Independence hall and the City hall of his "city of brotherly love." He says no one appreciates more than he does the importance of encouraging good will between states or with foreign nations, but he believes that the display of various flags leads to abuse and partialities. For that reason the Stars and Stripes will be the only flag displayed while he holds his present office. He made this statement when asked to display the Louisiana state pelican flag on the day of the dedication of the Louisiana state memorial in Vicksburg military park, and said he would display the Louisiana flag from the window of his office but not over the City hall or the famous Independence hall. — [Utica Press.]

His Only Hope.

If worst comes to worst, Harding can remain a senator and Cox can keep on governing, but Gene Debs simply has to win in order to pardon himself out. — [Washington Post.]

Too Much Sympathy.

When the persons guilty of the death of 36 men and women who happened to be walking on Wall street at a certain time, are arrested, as they eventually will be, undoubtedly there will turn up numerous men of deep and sympathetic natures who will say it is a shame to punish them, considering that they are guilty of only a political crime. — [Dallas Morning News.]

Two Thousand Per Cent.

To judge from the restaurant profits which United States Attorney Gallagher has exposed in Boston, the "overhead" offered in justification must have the sky as the limit. — [Springfield Republican.]

Weapon of Offense.

The fire hose as a weapon of offense has played a large part in the recent news. It is used in Brooklyn to quell too enthusiastic street car strikers and in Jersey City a belligerent armed man was dislodged from his stronghold by means of a well directed stream. Water, it is plain, is useful for other things besides floating ships. — [New York Herald.]

Yet They Rise.

Air gets thinner as one goes higher, and so do excuses as prices go higher. — [Baltimore Sun.]

HONOR LIST OF TOWNSHIPS.

Those Contributing to the Children's Society of Otsego County.

Indications are that the annual meeting of the Otsego County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children to be held at Cooperstown on Saturday will be largely attended, as much interest in the welfare of the society has been shown. It is doing excellent work. A summary of its work will doubtless be made in the report presented on Saturday.

The honor list of town with contributions in support of this excellent society being largely in individual subscriptions of $1 each is as follows:

Prominent Binghamton Man to Marry.

James T. Rogers, of Binghamton, Great Prophet of the order of Red Men in the United States and a former member of assembly from Broome county, last Tuesday took out a license to marry in Chicago, according to a dispatch from that city.

It is intended bride is Mrs. Ethel Dean, of Chicago, aged 51, and divorced. Mr. Rogers gave his age as 53. He has been married twice before.

Mr. Rogers' second marriage was in 1912 to Mrs. Emily H. Grummond, of Binghamton, the widow of a wealthy cigar manufacturer. She was prominent socially and in charitable work, and gave the children's ward to the Binghamton City hospital. Mrs. Rogers died three years ago.

Mr. Rogers has many friends in Oneonta to whom this announcement will be of interest.

HIS REASONS FOR IT.

Why Chairman Hill Grants Increase of Rates to C. &amp; D.

Readers of The Star no doubt noted the article on the first page of yesterday's issue, stating that the Public Service commission has granted a rate increase to five cents per mile to the Utica and Delaware railway. Chairman Hill, who wrote the decision of the commission, says:

"The road lies almost entirely in the Catskill mountains, with very heavy grades and sharp curves. The entire region is described as being of an unbroken nature, high elevation, serrated profile and sinuous alignment, one witness stating that the situation with regard to curvature, altitudes and gradients is not equalled in the state."

Evidence was given showing an operating deficit for the first six months in 1920.

"Upon this showing the application would seem to be meritorious and should be granted unless we can foresee an early and radical change in economical conditions which will substantially increase the gross income. Indications are that the mounting costs of operations have now even their apex and have started upon a steady decline, but in view of the moderate return which apparently will be available even with a considerable change in conditions, we can see no ground upon which the relief prayed for can properly be withheld."

WALTON FARMER BADLY HURT.

Joseph Harby Receives Serious Injuries Operating Ensilage Cutter.

Joseph Harby, prominent farmer and business man of Walton, is in a critical condition at his home as a result of injuries sustained about 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, while engaged in cutting corn for ensilage.

Mr. Harby was passing beside the machine, which is operated by electricity and revolves at a high rate of speed, when his coat sleeve became caught in the cogs and the upper portion of his arm was drawn into the machine. His calls for help were heard by his wife, a short distance away, and she and his grandson quickly went to his aid. They shut off the switch controlling the electric current but could not extricate the injured man from the machine. Doctors were summoned and, with the aid of neighbors and Mr. Harby's son, Platt, he was finally released after the cogs of the machine had been removed.

It was found that the arm was badly torn and the bone broken, and an operation appeared to be necessary. The physicians, however, decided that it would be best to wait for 24 hours to determine whether Mr. Harby could stand the shock which amputation would entail. Mr. Harby is 76 years of age.

BABE RUTH IN JOHNSON CITY.

King of Home Runners and Leaguers on Johnson Field Today.

Announcement is made that Babe Ruth and his aggregation of ball tossers who drew a record crowd in Oneonta last Saturday, will be in Johnson City today, playing the team from that place at Johnson field. Owing to some trouble which Babe has with his team, he will not have a full lineup, but the vacant places will be filled by local men, Irving, Sweet and Kenney playing with the visitors.

The line-up of the Johnson City men will be very much the same as in Oneonta. Donohue or Wengartner will pitch, Murphy will be at 1st and Leo Hanley at short. It is probable, though little notice has been given, that not a few Oneonta fans will take in the game.

Biology Club Outing.

TAKES LIFE OUT OF ASPHALT.

Experts Warn Residents on Paved Streets Against Burning Leaves.

The attention of owners or occupants of property on Elm, Maple, Grand or other streets which have been paved or surfaced with oil or asphalt is called to the fact that it is very injurious to such streets to burn the autumn leaves thereon. The matter was yesterday submitted to an expert, and his reply was: "There could be nothing more destructive to these paved streets than the burning of leaves, or in fact the setting fire to any sort of rubbish thereon. Asphalt in itself is inflammable, and these leaf fires will burn the life out of the pavement. If the pavements are to remain in good condition it can only be through reasonable care, and every citizen should bear this in mind. The pavements have cost the city a goodly sum of money, and it would be a poor policy to ruin them now. This is particularly true in the case of new pavements such as those on Maple and Elm streets, where the oil or asphalt has not as yet been thoroughly absorbed; but on any paved street it is poor policy."

Sawdust for Fuel.

It is said the D. &amp; N. railroad company is utilizing sawdust from the handle factory at Margaretville. This sawdust is blown from the factory to the company's shop boilers through a 10-inch galvanized pipe elevated some 25 feet in the air and is 345 feet in length and carries to a large bin. This is fed direct to the furnace and saves a large amount of coal for the company.

LOCAL MENTION

For the five first days of the present week the minimum temperature was 42 degrees, and the maximum has run from 68 to 80. Probably no such record ever was made for the third week of October in Oneonta.

The brickwork for the Dibble garage on Dietz street is nearing completion and it is expected that two more weeks will see the concrete roof in place. After that the concrete floors will go in, and it is probable that the structure will be entirely enclosed before cold weather.

While Dan Jennings was walking in the yard in the rear of his residence a few days ago, he had the misfortune, slipping, to sprain his left ankle. His friends will be glad to know that, though still on crutches, he was able to be at the Lewis Jewelry store again yesterday.

Though there were not a large number of truck farmers and other sellers present at the public market yesterday, those who ventured out for the mid-week market found good patronage by the housekeepers of the city. The next market will be on Saturday at the usual time and place. After this week, there will be only two market days in the week—Tuesday and Saturday.

As will be seen by a notice elsewhere printed, the freight service of the Ulster & Delaware company through its union (or D. & H.) station in this city will be discontinued November 1. On and after that date freight will be received and forwarded at the company freight station on railroad avenue. Whatever may be done with freight, it is hoped that as a matter of public convenience no such change will be made in the passenger service.

Meetings Today.

Regular meeting of Oneonta circle, No. 245, P. H. C., in B. R. T. hall, at 8 p. m. Masquerade social after meeting. All members not solicited please bring pumpkin pie or doughnuts.

The Fidelity class of the Main Street Baptist church will meet this afternoon at 2 Union street. Hostesses: Mrs. Parks, Mrs. Soden, Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Riley.

Members of Autumn lodge, will meet with Mrs. Catherine Merrill, 36 Luther street, this evening for a Halloween social. Bring usual refreshments.

Oneonta camp, No. 22, Golden Seal Assurance society, at 8 o'clock, in I. O. O. F. hall, Chestnut street.

St. James' guild will meet in the parish rooms this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Future meetings of the guild will take place on Fridays, instead of Thursdays, as hitherto.

Closing the Oneonta-Morris Gap.

The long delayed state highway between Oneonta and Morris is now so near completion under the efficient direction of the present contractors that there is every reason to see the finishing touches put upon it before the end of the present season. The road from Morris to the Ferguson corners on the Otsego creek road above West Oneonta is now finished; and also that section of the road between the Junction corners and West Oneonta. There now remains only to finish the short stretch between the latter place and the Ferguson corners, which in a few days should be done.

Red Cross Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Oneonta chapter, American Red Cross, will be held in the Municipal building October 27 at 7:30 p. m., at which time an executive committee will be elected to serve for the ensuing year. Consideration of and action upon reports and the transaction of such business as may properly come before the meeting. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

Baseball Game.

Saturday afternoon the engineering department and the transportation department of the Delaware and Hudson company will play their second game of baseball in Albany. Vito Molinari of this city is to leave Saturday morning to play for the engineering department.

Woman's Club.

The Shakespeare class will meet in the club parlors this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to organize its work for the winter. All having copies of Othello will please bring them.

HALLOWEEN DANCE.

Ward's Restaurant at Oneonta Hotel. Do not forget the Halloween dance Monday evening, Nov. 1st, 9 o'clock to closing time. A dance contest has been arranged and the prizes are on display now in the windows at Ward's jewelry store. Those desiring to reserve party tables and communicate with me. E. L. Ward.

YOUNG D. & H. TRAINMAN DIES

EUGENE WILLIAMSON FAILS TO RECOVER FROM INTERNAL INJURIES.

Delegates of Local American Legion and Knights of Columbus Leave to Attend Funeral of Brother Member at Wilkes-Barre This Morning—Leaves Two Sisters and Brother.

Local railroad men expressed general regret yesterday when word was received of the death of Trainman Eugene Williamson, 27 years old, of Wilkes-Barre, which occurred Tuesday night at the emergency hospital in Carbondale, Pa. Trainman Williamson was injured about two weeks previous to his death in the D. & H. yards at Ararat, Pa., in a runaway which is not definitely known here. The current report is that he was engaged in turning a switch when he fell, suffering internal injuries from which he failed to rally. He was removed soon after the accident to the hospital at Carbondale, where he failed gradually until the end came.

Williamson, who was a native of Pennsylvania and who spent his earlier life in that state, had been a trainman on the D. & H. for about five years past. After the war broke out, he joined Millard's field bakery and served overseas with that unit for more than a year. Returning after the signing of the armistice, he resumed his work on the road, and for some time past had covered a run between Oneonta and Carbondale, making his home at T. J. Maloney's, 239 Chestnut street. He was a member of the local council, Knights of Columbus, and of Oneonta post, 239, American legion. A. J. Boland and Edward Stapleton, representing these organizations, left for Wilkes-Barre last evening to attend the funeral services, which will take place this morning, with burial in that city. The local organizations of which Williamson was a member also sent floral pieces, the legion's tribute bearing the emblem of the American legion.

Williamson also was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Wilkes-Barre. He was popular among his associates on the road, and his untimely death is the source of general regret, he being spoken of as a young man with many praiseworthy traits.

Williamson, who was a single man, is survived by two sisters, both nurses at the hospital where he died, and who cared for him during his last illness, and by one brother, who is reported to be seriously ill of appendicitis in the same institution. The young man's parents died several years ago.

ROOF CATCHES FIRE.

Spark From Leaves Causes Fire on River Street Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon a still alarm was sent in about 3:15, followed by an alarm from box 65, which called the fire department to 100 River street to extinguish a roof fire which had caught by sparks from burning leaves.

It was stated that several of the neighbors in the vicinity were burning leaves in one place and that the fire was discovered by two children, who at once notified the occupants of the house, there being three families. A phone call was sent in by Mrs. Harry Baker, after which an alarm was sent in by Walter Clough from box 65, corner West Broadway and Fondra avenue. The fire was soon extinguished by the use of the chemicals. No damage was done to the rooms on the upper floor except by the water, which was slight.

AN INTERESTING EXHIBIT

Motor License Plates From Every State in Union and From Many Foreign Countries Now on Display Here.

The most interesting exhibit that has been seen in Oneonta in many a day is now on display in the show window of the Traver-Blair company, Dodge dealers, on Broad street. A collection of nearly 75 motor license plates holds the center of interest locally for both motorists and pedestrians.

The license plates, which are mounted on a back board which sets them off to good advantage, were secured by the company from Albany, where they had been on display at the Albany Hardware company's stores for several weeks. Number plates from every state in the union make up the exhibit, and it was the popular pastime of many on-lookers yesterday to see how many of the plates they recognized. Yellow, green and black are the predominating colors of the U. S. licenses. The Missouri plate is almost the identical style of New York's.

Perhaps the most interesting part of the exhibit is the section which includes foreign number plates. Plates of practically every province in Canada are there, and also of nearly every other country under the sun. The license numbers that are used in China, Japan and Egypt would make a U. S. traffic cop gasp if he tried to read them, for they are in oriental characters and look like anything but numbers to the uninitiated. Nova Scotia, the Canal Zone, Fiji Islands, Philippine Islands, Chile, and other South American countries, are all represented in the collection, and the whole exhibit furnishes plenty of food for a study that proves mighty interesting.

Frequent inquiries were made yesterday as to who was responsible for getting together the fine collection. The answer is that every state in the union sends to every other state one of its license plates for purposes of reference. So, at the secretary of state's office in every state, these plates are gathered together to complete the records. The exhibit on Broad street came from the secretary of state's office at Albany and probably will remain here for a couple of weeks.

As to the foreign plates, they were collected in much the same manner, being forwarded to this country through official channels for the information of the government and public.

Put on your Halloween togs and come to the party of the Ladies' auxiliary to the B. R. T. at the B. R. T. hall Monday evening, Oct. 25. A lunch will be served.

Burn wood whenever possible. Thus saving the coal for winter use. Platt & Howland, Phone 249.

HIGH SCHOOL EVENTS.

Faculty Reception Tonight—Glee Clubs and Orchestra Organized.

The first social event of the school year at the Oneonta High school will take place this evening, when the faculty reception will be held in the gymnasium. Music for the dancing, which will continue until 11 o'clock, will be furnished by "The Jammers," All O. H. S. students, alumni, and their friends, are invited to be the guests of the faculty for the evening. A very enjoyable time is anticipated.

Miss Jean Daggett, supervisor of music, has organized glee clubs for both the girls and boys, each with about 50 voices. The clubs have been rehearsing their music for two weeks and now make a very good appearance. An orchestra has also been organized and promises to be as good, if not better, than in previous years. The basketball teams have not as yet been organized, but it is expected that training will be started in the near future. The first team this year will probably be a light one, but this will not prevent it from being a fast one, and every effort will be made to make it such. Negotiations already are under way for bringing some fast out-of-town teams here, and some good games are anticipated.

GOOD WILL TRIUMPHANT UNDER TEST

As this message is being written, Dodge Brothers' daily, weekly and monthly production, is at the highest point in its history.

The most casual sort of inquiry will satisfy you that this production is being absorbed as it is delivered.

Within sight and sound as we write, a great addition to Dodge Brothers' immense works, is being rushed to completion.

The interesting thing about this situation is, that it is not likely that a half a hundred people have ever bought Dodge Brothers Motor Car just because they wanted a motor car.

Of the more than half a million who have bought it—the overwhelming majority did so because of the name it bore.

It has always been treated, by the American people in particular, as an exception—always set apart, and singled out, and never judged by ordinary standards.

It has always been thought of, and is still thought of, first, and foremost, and all the time, only in terms of its goodness, and the results it gives.

All of this is wonderful, in one way, and quite natural and logical in another.

It all dates back to the day when John and Horace Dodge conceived and designed and finally built the car—after warning each other, and their associates, not even to think of it in any other terms than the best obtainable value.

They began with a few almost absurdly simple principles, bluntly expressed and rigidly executed, about decency and honor and integrity—such as most of us wrote in our copy books at school.

They reduced these old copy book maxims to a splendid and scientific system, pouring more, and more, and still more value into the car, and then marshalling all the resources of modern massed manufacture to get their product into the hands of the people at an honorable and an honest cost.

These policies and principles have never been changed, and never will be changed, by so much as a hair's breadth; and they have come to be recognized and accepted as Dodge Brothers principles wherever motor cars are driven.

It has all happened as John and Horace Dodge planned it—quite simply, naturally, and automatically, all over America, and all over the world.

People do discriminate, as Dodge Brothers contended they would; people will find out when a motor car is well built and gives good service and great good value.

Dodge Brothers market today is where they planned to locate and establish it—in the mind and the heart of every man and woman who admires good work, well done.

It will last, and it will keep on growing, as it has kept on growing for five years (faster than Dodge Brothers works could keep pace with it), as long as the number of those who believe that a manufacturer should build to serve and not merely to sell, continues to increase.

All is well with Dodge Brothers today, because John and Horace Dodge build well in the beginning, and because their business will continue to build well until the end.

PROMINENT BROOME LAWYER

Alexander D. Wales Dies Monday
This Week at Home in Georgia.

A. D. Wales, who for many years was a leading attorney of the city of Binghamton, died Monday of this week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Glen, in northern Georgia.
He was a lawyer of the old school and for at least 25 years was the heart and soul of the democratic of the Southern Tier. He was prominent as an attorney both in civil and criminal cases. He was interested in a half dozen prominent cases, and was the plaintiff in the action brought against President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, to recover $100,000 for legal advice given in settlement of the mine workers strike. Among the witnesses in the case were Mr. Mitchell, President Roosevelt, G. W. Hughes, former Senator H. D. Higgins and other prominent men.

During his career at the bar he had partnerships with Conrad A.
Walton, now partner of Leut.-Gov.
Harry C. Walker, the late Walter M.
Hand, A. Perry Fish, and William H.
Riley. For years there was not a Broome county law suit of note in which Mr. Wales did not participate, on one side or the other.

Entertain on Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowen entertained at their home, 14 Center street, last evening, the occasion being the second anniversary of their marriage.
The decorations were in white and pink with flowers and plants as table decorations.

The center of the table was covered with a beautiful cake with appropriate decorations signifying the occasion.
Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alger of this city and Mrs. Elizabeth Squire of Milford Center. An enjoyable time was had by all, who in departing wished the couple many more years of happy wedded life.

Let the children have plenty of Hy-grade brand butterine on their bread and eat plenty of it yourself. It's wholesome and nutritious.

Others may keep up profits by leveraging the standard of quality. The Stetson cigar makers do not. They're

MRS. W. H. MORRIS AT REST

Former Pastor Speaks With Feeling
at Final Obsequies Yesterday.

The funeral of Mrs. William H. Morris was held at the family home, 25
Elm street, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. L. L. Greene of Chelmsford, Mass., who was formerly pastor of the Chapel Memorial church, of which Mrs. Morris was for many years a devoted member. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends.

Rev. Mr. Greene spoke with great feeling, for he had been for many years an intimate personal friend of the family. His thought was full of hope and assurance that the love and union of family and friends would not fade nor end with this life but grow stronger and brighter "till the veil of what seems now the great mystery should finally be lifted and the earnings of husband and wife be satisfied with complete fulfillment. He dwelt especially on the inspiration which such a life as Mrs. Morris' was to all to emulate—her kindness and charity and neighborliness. Simply and tenderly, Rev. Mr. Greene told the greatest of all truths, that the end and purpose of life is righteousness and loving kindness, and that the friend for whom he was speaking and all were thinking was a fine and perfect example of this ideal.

The floral tributes were beautiful, and the warm sunshine of the mellow
October day seemed to lend its spirit in benediction to the benign and venerated character of the friend whose love was the pride and treasure of all who knew her.

The interment was at Riverside, where the body was placed by the Rev. Mr. Morris, Dr. P. L. Bugbee, George
J. Wilson, Hon. Walter L. Brown,
Charles F. Shepard and Walter S.
Whipple acted as bearers.

Among relatives and friends from out of the city who were present at the funeral were Colonel and Mrs.
Frank Edwards and Miss Frances Edwards of Northfield, Vt.; Bert Tidell, Atlantic City; Mrs. Virginia Morris, eral sympathy and regard.

The service was conducted by Rev.
R. L. Cornett of the Davenport Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by Rev.
R. R. Erwin of the North Kortright
United Presbyterian church. The sermon was a most impressive and comforting discourse from the text found in Psalm 138:1-4. "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I shall fear no evil." Interment was in the family burial plot at Butts Corners, the bearers being H. F.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. ODELL

Resident of West Kortright Falls
Dead at Home Thursday Afternoon.

Davenport, Oct. 21. — Mary Emma Odell, wife of Alva Odell of West Kortright, died suddenly at her home at about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Odell had for some time suffered from chronic Bright's disease and heart trouble, but was about the house as usual during the day, and her condition was apparently not at all serious. At the hour named, she had gone to the wood house, when her young daughter heard a noise and, stepping to the door, found that her mother had fallen.
Death was almost instantaneous,
Mrs. Odell breathing only a few times after her daughter reached her side.

The funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the North Kort-right church, of which she was a member. Rev. R. L. Erwin will officiate and interment will be in the North Kortright churchyard. She was a woman highly esteemed and the family will have the sympathy of all.

Mrs. Odell was 50 years of age and was survived by her father, Myron Odell, her husband, and six children. They are Fred, Ralph and Ray Odell of West Kortright; Mrs.
Harold Baister of Hawley, Pa.; Mrs.
Edwin Smith of West Kortright; and Dorothy, who resides at home. She also leaves four brothers and four sisters, Jesse F. and Charles Mellman of North Kortright, Orrin of Davenport and William of Oneonta.
Mrs. E. L. Graft and Mrs. Fannie Mel-

NATURE IN A RAGE

Violence of Typhoon Is Almost Beyond Belief.

Writer Vividly Describes Scene When Great Wrecked Wrought Havoc in Harbor of Hong Kong—Boats Piled on Shore.

"I had been anxious to see a typhoon," says Edwin Tarrisse, who has spent some years in the East, "and I had my wish gratified in Hong Kong more than once. The strength of the wind at such times is greater than one would have thought possible. It whirled ships helplessly adrift from the firmest moorings and with sudden blast takes away the corners of houses and sends projecting verandas flying across the street.

"During the night of one gale the residents for the most part shut themselves closely in their houses, carefully securing their doors and windows and so remained with constant apprehension and dread lest the dwelling should be swept away and themselves be entombed in the ruins.

"Once, while the storm was at its worst, I ventured down to the Praya to see the crowd of Chinese boats that had been blown ashore and piled up in a mass of wreckage just below the city. The sky was a dark leaden color, and the wind caught up the crested waves and sent them in long white streaks of vapor across the scene, through which the dismantled ships were dimly descried drifting from their moorings.

"The heavy, stone-faced wall of the Praya had given way, and the great granite blocks had been washed in upon the road. Half-blinded by the waves as they leaped over the road and dashed in angry foam against the houses, and buffeted by the wind, I made slow headway to the east end of the settlement, where a number of foreigners were attempting to rescue two women from a small Chinese boat.

"We had to cling to the lamp posts and stanchions and seek shelter against the doorways and walls. Advantage was taken of a slight lull in the storm to fire off rockets, but these were driven back like feathers against the houses. Then, long lifeboats were dragged to the pier, but the first was broken and disabled the moment it touched the water, while the second met a like fate and its gallant crew were pitched out into the sea.

"In short, every effort proved abortive, and as darkness set in the unhappy women and their boat were reluctantly abandoned to their fate.

"Next morning, the whole length of the Praya presented a scene of wreckage and desolation. Many of the Chinese, notwithstanding their shrewdness in predicting storms, had been taken quite unawares and hence the fearful sacrifice of life and the loss of property which ensued."

Where Old Jewelry Goes.

The United States assay office at New York has recently received much gold and silver in queer articles for conversion to bullion or coin.

The charges for converting gold and silver are less than those made by any private company, which circumstance brings to the assay office dealers in precious metals, pawnbrokers, jewelers, gold and silver producers and the banks. It is no unusual sight to see a dealer bring in a lot of jewelry made up of a gold mesh bag, brooches, scarf pins and rings. This is weighed in bulk and a receipt given which includes no statement of value. All the articles are melted as a whole, and the owner given the privilege of receiving in payment gold or silver bullion or cash.

Some time ago the executrix of an estate sent a silver chandelier of enormous proportions, but hopelessly out of style. It was reported to have cost $20,000 fifty years ago. Melted it brought about $2,700.

Whales Not Deep Divers.

Although it is a common belief among sailors that whales, when they "sound," descend to enormous depths in the ocean, and although it has been estimated that the larger whales commonly dive to a depth of almost two-thirds of a mile, yet a member of an antarctic expedition challenges these statements and avers that about 300 feet is the maximum depth to which a whale can dive, says the Sun and New York Herald. He bases his statement partly on the fact that the fish on which they feed and to obtain which they are accustomed to sound, dwell near the surface, and partly on the fact that at the depth of 1,000 yards or more the pressure is so great that they could not withstand it, and that their muscular strength is not sufficient to propel them into the regions where it prevails.

Advises Walking on Tiptoes.

Walking on tiptoes a few minutes daily is the form of exercise prescribed by Dr. Gautier, a French physician. It brings into action little used muscles of back and abdomen as well as those of calf and thigh, stiffens the spinal column and neck, and promotes chest breathing in place of the abdominal breathing common from constant walking on the heels. It gives the benefit of gymnastic training without the useless heart fatigue and loss of breath. It is pronounced the most convenient form of physical culture, and its efficacy is easily tested. But it must not be assumed that the deforming practice of wearing high-heeled shoes has the advantages of the few minutes' daily exercise.

Like Topsy.

"What's your name?" said the officer to a young colored lad who joined the ship at the Cape.

"Algoa Ray, sir."

"Where were you born?"

"Wasn't born at all, sir."

"Wasn't born at all?"

"No, sir; was washed ashore in a storm."—Everybody's Magazine.

HEROES OF MIDDLE AGES

Stories of Their Great Size and Enormous Strength Appear to Be Exaggerated.

Physiologists, after having measured hundreds of skeletons, testify that the men of our own time average from one to two centimeters taller than the men of the middle ages according to a writer in the New York Evening Post. "We possess their armor, and we do not only appear to have grown taller as a race since the time when the armor was made, but our shoulders could never fit inside the steel corselets of our medieval forefathers.

In France, the superintendent of the museum under the second empire, wishing to put on the armor of Francis I., the largest suit of all in the museum of artillery, was unable to do so. It was too small for him, although he was in no sense a giant.

Some years ago in Switzerland, on the occasion of a gymnastic tournament, the young men wishing to close the festivities by a procession with historic costumes, borrowed the armor and armor of the arsenal. But the young men were unable to get into it. Of the supposedly enormous strength of those historic warriors we have no proof except the weight of the equipment. The harness of the knights was very much lighter than has commonly been supposed. According to one of the catalogues of the museum of artillery, the weight of the combined armor did not, as a rule, exceed fifty pounds, and inasmuch as those who wore it were horsemen it was the horse that had to bear the greater part of the burden.

"ON THE ROAD TO MANDALAY"

Babel of Tongues at Burmese City to Witness Dedication of New Pagoda.

A curious festival was held not long ago in Mandalay, the chief town of Burma. A new pagoda dedicated to the Buddhist religion was to be completed by the placing of a huge crown or tiara upon its summit, more than 300 feet above the ground.

To witness the ceremony came Buddhists from Indo-China, from the Himalayas, from Laos and Chan and Siam. Warriors from Katschin, sorcerers from Mior and people from other places made a medley of languages like that of Babel.

On a street corner would be seen a barber pulling a customer's teeth. On another corner a Mohammedan bird seller sold caged paroquets to Buddhists, who plonely sent them free. At very modern booths one could buy ice cream, soda or tea. Mandalay was a gorgeous spectacle and the new pagoda was the center of it.

Every pagoda has at its summit a tiara, or the placing of which is often a Herculean task. The one to be raised weighed several hundred pounds and consisted of a gilded ball and crown and a great spindle above it. To get it to the top an inclined plane of bamboo scaffolding like a huge toboggan slide had been built and was decorated with silk flags and umbrellas. Up the inclined plane the heavy cap was slowly pulled. Six days were required for the ascent and a seventh to fasten it in place.

Had the Wrong Car.

My husband deals in old and new cars, and I seldom drive the same car twice.

The other day I drove an old car downtown, and after doing some shopping started for home. I had not gone many blocks when I discovered I was not driving the same car I had when I left home, and immediately turned back. Where I had taken the car I saw an officer talking to a very much excited woman.

I offered all sorts of explanations, but it was most embarrassing for the woman whose car I had taken was my next door neighbor, with whom I had not been on speaking terms for six months.—Chicago Tribune.

Wars of the United States.

A star paragraph on "Wars of the United States" enumerates 19 wars. Ten of these were conflicts with Indian tribes, of which the most important were probably the Black Hawk war and the Seminole war. If these are called wars, an eleventh might be added—the Modoc war of 1873. The important wars on the list are the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war, the Spanish war, the War with Germany. The minor conflicts included in the list are: the War with France, 1798; the war with Tripoli, 1803; the Philippine war, 1899.—Outlook.

One of the best remedies for a coat of sunburn is sweet cream. The cream is healing and not the least bit irritating to the most severely burned nose. The prepared "cold creams" are, of course, healing and soothing, but are very apt to irritate the sensitive member. Before washing the face rub lightly with ordinary

MINE TREASURES IN U. S. HANDS

Possession of Sardinian Fields a Source of Worry to Some Italians.

EXPLOITATION OBJECTED TO

Many Valuable Resources on Picturesque Island Are Awaiting Development—Much Sought Mineral, Wolfram, Base of Tungsten, Is Found in Large Quantities—Land Once Thought to Be Absolute Waste.

Cries of alarm have been raised by some Italian writers on account of what they call the American exploitation of the island of Sardinia. Although French, Belgian and English companies have for many years held concessions for the iron, alum and lead mines, no fear was felt, but at the very thought of American capitalists obtaining equal rights they are indignant. The reason for this is that the Americans have obtained possession of lands on which the much-sought mineral, wolfram, abounds in great quantity.

From this wolfram it will be possible to obtain tungsten, the metallic chemical element which is so necessary, not only for the manufacture of hard steel implements, but also for the making of electric light bulbs. It has a special quality by which the powdered metal burns at a red heat and is very slowly attacked by moist air. No one knew that tungsten was to be found in Sardinia, even the Italian experts, who have been importing it from abroad. In the future it will be found nearer at home. With this wonderful mineral all the preparations, tungsten dioxide, trioxide tungstic acid, as well as the very necessary tungstate salts, so essential in the modern process for calico printing and dyeing, can be obtained from the tungsten from Sardinia.

Owing to this discovery by an American the Italians feel that they have lost any chance they ever had of obtaining this necessary metal for their own use, as, they reason, the output of the mines will go to America.

Discovery Accidental.

The discovery of these mines of wolfram and molybdenum was purely accidental. During the last year of war and after the armistice the American Red Cross extended its work of starting soup kitchens and work rooms, and many of these were opened in Sardinia, not only in the towns, but in out-of-the-way places. One depot was opened at a little place called Bene de Padru, which lies on the east coast, where, apart from mountain walks, there is very little in the way of amusement.

It happened that the officer in charge, when his work of inspecting the various depots was over, spent his time roaming over the hills and seeing the sights of that lonely coast. As he knew something about geology, he would take with him specimens from the different rocky districts, which at his leisure he would examine. To his surprise he came across traces of wolfram and molybdenum, two minerals which are very much sought after and which hitherto have been found in districts of which Sardinia was never considered one.

Tungsten is really a recent discovery, of 20 years ago, when steelmaking was revolutionized by the experiments of Mushet, who first obtained a self-hardened steel by the addition of 1.9 per cent of tungsten to the carbon and a temperature of 500° C. Later processes increased this amount to 2.0 per cent.

To an American geologist this discovery was glad news indeed. When an effort was made to buy the land on which these mines were to be found an objection was made by the owner, who up to that time thought it an absolute waste, as it could not be used for any agricultural purpose. Whether the company has obtained also the concession to work the mine is not known, but it is believed that the government will be only too glad to grant it.

There is absolutely no reason why American mine owners should not obtain concessions as well as those of other nations.

Sardinians Little Known.

The real truth about Sardinia is that the people on the mainland have a very vague idea about the inhabitants there, except that they are chessmen and wear very picturesque costumes. Italian financiers have always fought shy of investing their money in the island, or in any way trying to improve its industries. For one reason, it has a bad name on account of its malaria, which is so virulent in some places that the mortality from it is higher than anywhere on the mainland. The mines are very numerous, but owners have found it difficult to find miners who would risk the climate.

In Cagliari 14,183 miners were employed in the sulphur and lead mines. Owing to the rumor of the wonderful minerals and ores to be found, Sardinia is now the happy hunting ground of prospectors of all sorts, who hope to pick up bargains. They have arrived too late, as now the island is rather dry of selling anything except at a very high price.

It is strange that the modern Italian has discovered so late what a wonderful place Sardinia is. It was known as a wonderful granary in the time of the Romans, a reputation which it has kept up, even today growing more grain than any other place of its size. It can not only grow sufficient grain to supply the needs of its 570,000 inhabitants, but has enough to export to the mainland. Although it has an area of 8,306 square miles, a great deal of the island is uncultivated. Yet with all these disadvantages, the Sardinian agriculturists rear more cattle than they do on the same amount of ground on the mainland.

Before the war they reared 1,152,000

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME

There remain in army hospitals throughout the country more than 26,000 soldiers still being treated for wounds received overseas. Red Cross workers give them the same sort of friendly aid—only more of it—that was given during the war. Furthermore, the Red Cross is reaching these soldiers at occupations at which they can later make a living and is keeping in touch with their home folks in order that no dependents may suffer for lack of funds.

head of cattle, 3,000,000 sheep and nearly 3,000,000 goats. It is from the goat's milk that the shepherds make the cheese which is supposed to be manufactured in the province of Roma, and which is called pecorino. Although the Roma shepherds get the credit, the very best quality of pecorino is really made in Sardinia. They formerly specialized in a wonderful yellow cheese, but now are under contract with Roman firms and export only pecorino. This yellow cheese was similar to Canadian cream cheese.

CONVICT TURNS INVENTOR

War Spy and Swindler Designs Airship and Barge Canal Boat.

Max Lynar, alias Count London, former war spy and international swindler, who defrauded investors out of over $1,000,000 before he was landed in Sing Sing, has turned out to be an inventor there.

Lynar has invented a combination freight and passenger airship and has shown the model to Maj. Lewis E. Lawes, the warden. He has also invented a self-propelled barge canal boat which will carry 1,000 tons of freight, or double the capacity of any canal boat that can now pass through the New York state barge canal. Lynar received the first papers from the United States patent office, securing the patents against infringement of them.

Lynar became notorious during the European war. He was reputed to be a German spy. He went about this country before the United States entered the war, promoting fraudulent war-munition corporations and selling thousands of dollars' worth of worthless stock in them. He professed to have invented an unsinkable ship, into which many careless investors sank thousands of dollars. He has several more months to serve.

MADE "HOOTCH" IN JAIL

Jailer Now Knows Why His Prisoners Asked for More Corn Bread.

Moonshine stills have been found by scores in mountains and Blue Grass country alike, but the capture of an illicit liquor manufacturer in a jail is a novelty. Rodney David, county jailer at Henderson, Ky., found a crude but entirely complete still in his prison, and it was being operated by seven white prisoners.

The still had been made from a coal oil can with a smaller can be nested to hold fire. The men had distilled more than a pint of pure "white mulle" from sour corn bread, which they had saved. For a siphon they had torn up a new disinfectant spray and inserted it in the top of the oil can to allow the juice to run into a tin can that had once contained tomatoes. Fire was made for the still from torn-up blankets in the small can under the oil cup, and it was the rag smoke that assailed Jailer David's nostrils and led to his investigation.

For several days the seven men accused had complained they were not getting enough corn bread for their meals and the jailer granted them an extra supply. Corn bread is not likely to be on the bill of fare hereafter.

ONE GERMAN MONOPOLY ENDS

America Produces Rare Chemicals Formerly Made by the Germans.

The German monopoly on chemicals has been broken, according to statements made by Dr. H. T. Clarke of Rochester, N. Y., before the organic division of the American Chemical society, in session in Chicago. Before the war hundreds of the chemicals essential to laboratory work were made exclusively in Germany, Doctor Clarke said, but now 800 of these rare chemicals are produced in America.

The chemists also discussed a food for cows, which makes them give more milk and increase in weight; a fine grade of sirup made from sweet potatoes, and shoes manufactured from shark skin.

Prof. O. H. Sheppard of Rochester, N. Y., told the delegates about the properties of "colloidal," a chemical coal which was developed during the war as a government secret and used in transports for fuel.

Why Cat Does Not Get Fat.

Despite the fact that a cat rarely moves, it seldom becomes as fat as a dog would under similar circumstances. This is because its immobility is not that of inaction; its nerves are working while its muscles seem at rest.

As a Business Proposition.

The Westminster magistrate, the other day, described a prisoner as "a very clever thief." It is said that the fellow intends printing this testimonial on his letter paper.—Punch.

"GHOST" IN NO MAN'S LAND

Germans Thought They Were Listening to Unearthly Visitor, but It Was Clever Propaganda.

The only direct propaganda raid for which the American army had opportunity before the armistice was planned and carried out on the Metz front by Capt. H. E. Osann, an officer of Belgian descent who was familiar with the German army, says Mr. Heber Blankenhorn in Harper's Magazine.

"This is my funeral," Capt. Osann said when he explained his scheme. "All I want is 40,000 leaflets. That division is full of Alsace-Lorrainers, and I know the names of scores of men in it. We'll drop special leaflets on them for a few days, and after they have soaked in it'll take a patrol some night and go up to their wire and call, 'Don't shoot! I'm not going to shoot. Is Fritz Schneider there? I want to talk to him. Where is Willy Liebmann?'"

"You'll get a prompt answer from machine guns," I observed. "Oh, yes, but only a burst or two," Osann said. "They'll miss, and there'll be a pause, and I'll call more names. If I get somebody out there to argue with, I'll send him back to bring his whole battalion over."

We showered them with Osann's leaflets in French and German, addressed to Alsace-Lorrainers—simple statements of what the victory of one side or the other would mean to them. Then on a quiet night Osann and a patrol of 12 stole along the railway that ran into the enemy's lines before Dampvilloux. Alone, he made his way within 20 yards of an observation post on the edge of a wired woods and boldly set up his call. There was not even a shot. After ten minutes he began again. "Men of the Sixty-First regiment, listen!" Then the patrol behind him began to hear voices; in the Boche trench a guttural but earnest discussion was going on.

Again Osann shouted names he knew. In the silence the whole patrol could hear the footsteps of a man walking along the railway track toward Osann, but he ran back and Osann had to come away.

A few days later we took prisoners on that front, and every man had copies of the Alsace-Lorraine leaflet in his pockets. When we asked if they had noticed anything recently in No Man's land at night, they answered, "You mean the ghost?" A ghost, they said, had been heard calling soldiers by name. Their officers had made a report of the ghost to the Kommandant.

For all I know the command may have issued orders about it: "In future shows will be met with fire rounds of M. G. fire; angel with ten."

A. E. F. Landmarks Going. Gradually the landmarks of the Rhine army that first reached the Rhine are disappearing. The old buildings that sheltered the first army amusements and recreations are being demolished, and the latest one to feel the blow of the wrecker's hammer is the victory hut in Coblentz.

This hut was built to provide an adequate eating place for the soldiers coming in from the various bridgeheads. A corps of civilian workers were kept busy preparing and serving the food for the 7,000 men who were fed there each day. At first the entire building was used as a canteen, but when the most of the divisions had gone home and the A. E. F. became the A. F. G., half of the building was converted into a wet canteen for the service of light lunches, ice cream, etc., and the other side was still used as the canteen.

November 5, 1918, a heavy snow storm came near ending the career of the hut. The weight of snow on the roof was so great that the main pillars buckled and distorted the floor to such an extent that the authorities questioned the advisability of making the necessary repairs. The demand for a skating rink, however, was so insistent that after much discussion the building was altered and the athletic enthusiasts, as well as the skating enthusiasts, used the building during the winter—From the Stars and Stripes.

Sweet Potatoes. The sweet potato may soon be a much more common vegetable in our markets than heretofore. Its season has been restricted by the difficulty of keeping it for any length of time in storage. Unlike the white potato, it began to deteriorate as soon as it came out of the ground.

This trouble is understood to have been overcome by new methods of curing, and plants specially designed for the storage of sweet potatoes have recently been established at many points in the South.

Improved and much sweeter varieties have been developed, and a campaign is being organized to promote the marketing of better sweet potatoes on a greater scale all over the country.

The sweet potato, of course, is not really a potato at all, but a kind of yam. It is, like the so-called "Irish" potato, an American vegetable by origin.

Overalls Built for Freak. Overall manufacturers at Scranton, Pa., have made to order a pair of overalls containing twenty-five yards of material for a negro at Memphis, who is nine feet four inches tall and weighs 540 pounds. The girth measurement is 109 inches, and each of the hip pockets is big enough to hold a watermelon.

Accounting for It. "I'm worn out. They had me putting up pup tents the best part of the day."

"I suppose that is why you feel so dog tired."

Heard in a Restaurant. First Girl—Don't you ever eat your corn off the cob, Marge? Second Girl—Not this summer. It butters on one's ear buds.

IRONIES OF LIFE

"TOMCELSON made a talk to Efficiency," observed the retired agent, "and the next day his store closed by the sheriff."

"Life is full of such ironies, dog," said the keeper. "I've seen down jokers being played the best of us, and I often wonder what an evil genius is behind it all."

"I used to be a man who was wonderful in his breaker. He used to give public exhibitions, and the way he could make them out of his hand, half an hour being formally introduced to them, a sight worth going miles to see."

Then on a quiet night Osann and a patrol of 12 stole along the railway that ran into the enemy's lines before Dampvilloux. Alone, he made his way within 20 yards of an observation post on the edge of a wired woods and boldly set up his call. There was not even a shot. After ten minutes he began again. ## "BILL SIKES' HOUSE" MUST GO

Located in District Made Famous by Dickens, and Stands in Way of Improvement.

The house from whose roof Bill Sikes tried to lower himself by a rope to escape the mob that had tracked him to Jacob's Island is to be torn down. Bill, you remember, made a mistake as he tried to swing clear of the roof, and the noose at the end of the rope caught him and hanged him, whereas his dog, trying to keep from the roof to his savior, saved his own and fell into the ditch at the base of the house, casting out his brains on a stone.

Jacob's Island is in Redwood, near St. Saviour's docks. The ditches or canals which separated it from the mainland and which carried water from the Thames to the mills and tanneries in the district, long since disappeared. Bill Sikes' house was identified some time ago by the discovery of an old map of the district, on which its location was plainly indicated. It is in the rear of a house in Eckett street, and is used as a stable. The London county council plans to improve the entire district, so the region made notorious by "Oliver Twist" must go. The name of the sixteenth century Jacob, who had a large house and garden on the island, before it became an industrial district, is still preserved in the nearby Jacob street—Detroit News.

Alliteration.
Alliteration occurs sometimes in the writings of the ancients, but not, it is supposed, designedly, as they regarded all echoing of sound as a rhetorical blemish. Cicero, in the "Oration," has this phrase: "Sensim sine sensu sensu sensu," and Virgil in the "Aeneid," has many marked alliterations.—William Mather

Wore Only Shirt and Lantern to Flag Train

Winsted, Conn.—When Thomas J. Doyle of Waterbury, a New Haven railroad brakeman, stood on a grade crossing in Torrington with a lantern in his hand and nothing but a shirt on his back, some one notified the police and Doyle was escorted to the police station by Patrolman Hurbutt. Then he cursed.

In court Doyle said he was in the caboose changing his rain-soaked clothes and that before he had a chance to put others on it became necessary for him to run to the crossing and signal the approach of a locomotive.

BUILT FOR HIGH ALTITUDES

Frenchman Has Designed Airbus That Can Carry Passengers—Compartment to Be Airtight.

Why not use "aerial submarines," for flight in the upper air—that is, enclosed cars in which air at atmospheric pressure can be maintained? asks the Scientific American Monthly. Only by some such means will planes but a very few highly trained pilots ever be able to strain to great altitudes, according to Dr. Guglielmo, president of the section of physiology of the International Aeronautic exposition, and Dr. Garasax of the technical section of aeronautics at the St. Cyr military academy, France.

Louis Breguet, the builder of airplanes, has designed an airbus for use at high altitudes. It has a wing spread of 55 feet and a metal fuselage enclosing pilot, motor and passengers in an airtight cigar-shaped case. It is capable of carrying twenty-seven passengers, each with 85 pounds of baggage, a distance of 620 miles, or a pilot, two mechanics, 1,100 pounds of provisions and 10,000 pounds of gasoline a distance of 4,000 miles at 105 miles an hour. No oxygen tanks are needed.

As to Immortality.
If I am wrong in thinking the human soul immortal, I am glad to be wrong; nor will I allow the mistake which gives me so much pleasure to be wrested from me as long as I live. But if when dead, as some insignificant philosophers think, I am to be without sensation, I am not afraid of dead philosophers deriding my errors. Again, if we are not to be immortal, it is nevertheless what a man must wish to have his life end at its proper time. For nature puts a limit to living as to everything else.—Cicero "On Old Age."

BEADS ADD TO THIS FROCK

Blue satin in the shade called midnight, and bead embroidery form this chic frock. The beading is done in gold and blue.

CREPE VERY LATEST THING

Material of Various Weaves and Styles Now Having Pronounced Run of Popularity.

In the matter of silks crepes are the very latest thing—crepes of heavy, luxurious sheen, those woven with satin surfaces and satin backs and those woven with stripes and figures and patterns. Satin had its vogue (and it can never be wholly pushed from the center of the stage), but now crepe in various weaves and styles is having its heyday. Many evening dresses undoubtedly will be made from its lustrous folds and for afternoon wear it will be altogether fashionable. The surprising thing about this fabric is how wonderfully it has been developed. It is heavy or light; thin and filmy or positively stiff, as in the broad-clothed varieties that will be used for formal dinner gowns and for fur-trimmed evening wraps for sumptuous occasions.

Some of the new broad-clothed materials are done with threads that are not metal, but which are so cleverly handled that they give every appearance of being metal. And in this we have an innovation of value because the nonmetal threads will not tarnish, but will last from season to season with the same freshness as does the foundation weave of the handsome fabric.

BROWN AND RED COMBINATION

Colors Used Together With Success and Smartness in Some of the New Frocks.

Brown and red are colors that have been combined with real success and smartness in some of the new frocks, says the New York Evening Sun. We used to see this combination occasionally in little girls' sailor suits. There were brown serge sailor suits with red anchors and braid trimmings on sleeves and collars, and truth to say the combination often seemed particularly ugly. Much smarter did red on black or red on navy blue seem in children's sailor or middy suits, but the brown ones had the advantage known to the careful mother as not showing dust or wear so readily as the more distinct tones of blue or black. But in the new frocks the combination is really interesting. Sometimes brown tricotette is used with red tricotette in a smart frock or blouse.

Citron, purple and orchid is a color combination seen in one of the new separate blouses, and what is more, it was used with embroidery of blue wool.

Labor Saver.

Cotton crepe can be used to keep down the ironing bill. For underwear it should be made up with rather heavy lace to look well, for if it is combined with some lace or embroidery which needs ironing to look its best, either the garment so made looks flimsy and unattractive or else it defeats its own purpose of making less work for the laundress. There is nothing more serviceable than cotton crepe in pink, brown or blue and white for children's rompers. Made with a little colored braid at the neck and wrists and belt, these rompers are pretty as well as practical.

Flannel Decorations.

Mildred will decorate her fall blouses with flannel. A recent model is made of white georgette, and has a throw collar and bell sleeves of flannel. The very plain blouse has two rows of scallops near the waistline which are bound in color to match the scarf.

Where Kansas Woman Drew the Line.
"Incompatibility of religious temperament" was one of the reasons given for a divorce. The wife testified she didn't mind so much her husband being a Holy Roller. What she balked at was his coming in at three o'clock in the morning and saying he had been studying the Book of Revelation with a friend.—Topeka State Journal.

NO AID FOR NOSE

Science Unable to Improve Human Sense of Smell.

Really, in That Field, the Leading Thinkers of the World Are Completely Baffled—Anyway, Would Knowledge Be Desirable?

Some time ago there was held in England a "Wonders of Science Exhibition" which served to reveal many marvels to the public unfamiliar with the work done with the microscope, the microphone and the megaphone.

The microphone magnifies sound as the microscope does things seen. The megaphone is the instrument used by the scientist in taking pictures of things shown by the microscope. More people are familiar, to some extent, with the microscope than with the microphone. They know it is possible to hear a fly walk or a caterpillar crawl.

Many other wonders of science were shown at Surbiton, but neither there nor anywhere else has science demonstrated its ability to help the sense of smell. It can do marvels for sight, hearing and touch, but not for the humble and useful nose. In that field the accomplishments of science have been nil.

Let a man stand two miles, say, to windward of the point where a herd of caribou will cross an open plain over which a fresh breeze is sweeping and it must be apparent that only an infinitely minute particle of whatever matter may be given off from his body or clothing can possibly reach the nostrils of any one deer in the herd. Yet, if the man is completely screened from sight by a rise in the surface of the ground the caribou will nevertheless catch the faint in the air. They would be warned of the presence of a wolf in the same way.

Yet science is utterly unable to detect anything which the olfactory nerve of the deer senses and identifies. It cannot see with a microscope anything in the air which came from the man. It cannot find any such substance with a chemical test of any kind. Instead of aiding the sense of smell, it is entirely incapable of matching it. Here is another realm for science to invade and subdue; but would the conquest be altogether desirable? It is a question whether the average man needs to smell more things or sense more acutely the things he smells already. It is thought that the gains would not offset the losses under the prevailing conditions of life.

Coins Memorialize Pilgrims.

Models for the Pilgrim half dollar to be issued by the treasury department in commemoration of the tercentenary anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims were brought to Washington the other day by William Carroll Hill of Boston—secretary of the Pilgrim Tercentenary commission of Massachusetts, and deposited with Ray Baker, director of the mint.

The models are the work of Cyrus E. Dallin, the sculptor, and the designs have been approved by the commission.

The coin will bear on one side the head and shoulders of a typical Pilgrim intended to represent Governor Bradford, with his history of Plymouth colony under his arm, and on the reverse side a representation of the Mayflower. The entire issue of 300,000 coins has been assigned to the commission, which will distribute them through the National Shawmut bank of Boston. National banks in the principal cities of the country will have an opportunity, through the Shawmut, to obtain an allotment of the coins for their respective districts.

The Experiment.

There is a story told concerning a careful mother whose three children horrified her one day by producing for her inspection three exceedingly bilious-looking toffee apples.

"They're very pretty, my dears," she had bravely. "But really you mustn't eat them. I've heard of little children dying through eating colored toffee apples."

Then she took the sweetmeats away and put them out of reach—as she thought—on a shelf in her dressing room.

She imagined that would do the trick; but early next morning she heard a sound out on the landing, and, going to see who was astir so early, found Elsie trotting along the passage.

"What are you doing, dear?" she asked. "It's not six o'clock yet."

"Going to see if Lick and Arthur are dead yet," replied the eight-year-old miss. "I'm not."

Made to Suit.
Finley P. Dunne—"Mr. Dooley"—laid down his gorgeous Sunday magazine section.

"It says here," he observed, "that a western scientist is at work trying to transform a black man into a white man, and it says, by Jingo, that the experiment is going to be a complete success."

Mr. Dunne nodded thoughtfully. "Wonderful," he said. "Wonderful! And yet, come to think about it, they've been doing the same thing for a great many years by means of white-wash."

Under the Hat.
A man may cover up a 5-cent head with a $10 hat, but the minute he opens his mouth you forget all about the hat and say, "What a fool he is!"

The Repeating Rifle.
The repeating rifle was known and accepted in sporting circles as early as 1840, but was not adopted by the United States army until 1864.

CHARGED WITH NON-SUPPORT.

Charles Southard of This City Arrested for Binghamton Authorities.

Another one of those supposedly happy "romances" resulted in the arrest last evening of Charles Southard, 35 years old, of this city, on a warrant issued by Judge Titus of Binghamton charging him with non-support of his wife.

Southard, whose home up until the time of his marital venture, was at 107 Chestnut street, took unto himself a wife last April, but according to reports, married life proved irksome, and it was not long before the couple were separated. His young wife, who lives in Binghamton, now charges him with failing to support her, and had a warrant sworn out for his arrest. The Binghamton authorities turned the warrant over to the local police, and Southard was taken into custody by Officer Ralph Simmons last evening at 7:45.

After a discussion of his case at police headquarters, Southard was given his freedom upon furnishing $100 bail and giving his word to appear in Binghamton court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The man has been employed for some time here as a car repairer in the D. & H. shops.

THE "KATZENJAMMER KIDS."

Famous Cartoon Play at Oneonta Theatre Monday, Matinee and Evening.

John P. Mulgrew wrote the book and lyrics and Donald H. Bestor composed of the jingly music of "Katzenjammer Kids," the newest song, dance, fun and girl show made from the famous comic supplement cartoons, which will be presented at the Oneonta theatre Monday, matinee and evening, Oct. 25.

"Katzenjammer Kids" is the most massively and magnificently mounted and costumed cartoon play ever produced. It comes here with a big company of well-known musical comedy players and a fashion plate chorus that contains the most beautiful girls ever seen in a musical show. The chorus of "Katzenjammer Kids" is called a brigade of bewitching Broadway blondes and brunettes and is said to be a real Broadway chorus.

One of the features of "Katzenjammer Kids" is the big fashion parade. The beauties of the chorus in the ensemble number are gowned in the latest feminine fashions that are up to the minute as to style, which will surely prove an interesting feature for the ladies.

To Re-Establish Strength After Sickness

How Many People in This City Have Done So.

There is one great drawback to recovery for a person who has been sick, and that is poor dermalized blood and consequent weakness, nervousness and depleted strength. If people in this city who have been ill and are still in a weakened condition could only realize the value of Vinol to enrich the blood, create a hearty appetite and restore strength, druggists would not be able to supply the demand. For all run down, nervous, anemic conditions, and for delicate children and feeble old people, there is no other remedy like Vinol.

VOTE FOR COMMUNITY HOUSE

Special Election in Unadilla Gives a Majority of Over 100 for Community Center Idea.

At the special election held yesterday in Unadilla to decide on the proposition of a community center, the project was carried by the overwhelming vote of 174 to 64, thus giving the community house idea a majority of over 100 votes.

The election went off quietly despite the fact that previously there had been rumors of a stiff opposition to the plan, which was outlined in The Star a few days ago. The last school taxes in Unadilla were higher than usual, and this led some property owners to believe that voting for the community house would raise the taxes still higher, but this is not anticipated. Proponents of the plan were a happy bunch in Unadilla last night, and they predicted that it would do much for the good of the village.

Briefly, the community house will be used for all community affairs, furnishing a home for the American legion post and for meetings of civic organizations. There is also room for a play ground about the building. Under the terms of the agreement by which the property was given to the village, the village must appropriate $2,000 each year to maintain the place.

AUTOS GET MIXED UP.

Ed. Vandenberg's Maxwell Run Into by Mr. Vision Man's Dodge.

A collision between two motor cars at the corner of Main and Elm streets early last evening, resulted in considerable damage to the Maxwell touring car of Edward Vandenberg of this city. Vandenberg was proceeding down Main street from Grand and when at the corner of Elm was struck by a Dodge car driven by Ray Nearing of Mr. Vision, who had come up Main street and was turning into Elm. Vandenberg's car got the worst of the deal, the front axle and fenders being bent and headlights broken. Nearing's car was slightly damaged.

Nearing said that he ran into Vandenberg while attempting to avoid another car that had got in his way. The accident, with its attendant commotion, drew a large crowd, as the street was filled with workers returning to their homes upon the closing of the stores. The accident took place at about 6:15 o'clock.

Salvation Army Captain Surprised.

Captain William Harrison, head of the local Salvation Army post, was given a surprise party Wednesday evening by more than 70 of his fellow-workers and friends, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. Early in the evening, a beautiful supper was served at army headquarters, and this was followed by a social time, including games and other amusements. Late in the evening, Mrs. Harve Giles, in behalf of the gathering, presented Captain Harrison with a substantial purse as a token of the esteem in which he is held by all who know him. Captain Harrison has put his heart into his work since coming to Oneonta, and the Salvation Army is accomplishing much good among the needy of the city.

D. & H. TRAINMAN INJURED.

Samuel Updyke of Carbondale Suffers Bruised Back in Fall to Track.

Samuel Updyke of Carbondale, a trainman on the D. & H., is in the Fox Memorial hospital with an injured back, as the result of an accident he suffered yesterday afternoon at 2:25.

Updyke, who was attached to extra 1214 south, Conductor J. Dagan, was in the act of boarding the caboose at Bainbridge when he was thrown to the track, striking his back on the ends of the ties. Fellow workers saw his plight and Dr. E. W. Danforth of Bainbridge was summoned, who made Updyke as comfortable as possible until passenger train 399 arrived. The injured man was put on board this train and brought to Oneonta, where he was removed in the ambulance to the Fox Memorial hospital. Reports from the hospital last night were to the effect that Updyke was resting comfortably, but it could not yet be said whether his back is badly bruised, but should no internal injuries develop he is expected to make an early recovery.

DISPOSAL SALE MONDAY.

Pure Bred Holsteins of D. C. Dow Jr., Cobleskill, To Be Sold.

Elsewhere in this issue appears an announcement of interest to all farmers. D. C. Dow Jr. of Cobleskill offering his entire herd of 15 pure bred Holsteins at a disposal sale. The sale will be held on the farm grounds at Cobleskill on Monday, Oct. 25, and will commence at 10 a. m. in order to give plenty of time to complete the sale early in the afternoon and let farmers get away in time for chores. Half of the herd are young cows and the balance are young stock with no old or blighted cows among them. Dairymen should note the date as an earlier announcement gave an incorrect date.
